

Dawn F. Massa Stancavish President/CEO & Chief Innovation Officer

Dawn is the current President/CEO and Chief Innovation Officer and holds a seat of the BOD at Massa Products Corporation (“Massa”).

As the 3rd generation leader of the Company, Dawn continues to lead upholding the pillars of philosophy that Frank and Don set before her that have allowed the Company to stand the test of time and hold solid ground amongst other Defense and Industry giants.

Dawn is the liaison between the needs of the industrial/consumer/military world and the technical capabilities of Massa. She navigates a team of talented engineers, tradespeople, and businesspeople to continue to define what’s possible with electroacoustic technology and continue to convert that innovation into mass-produced products at the best value possible.

Dawn also is a published writer and photographer and holds a seat on several boards and committees, most notably she is the Chairwoman for the new National Navy Museum’s Industrial Base Coalition Committee charged with telling the story of and inspiring the continued relationship between Navy and Industry.

MASSA SONIC®

Harness the Science of Sound

www.massa.com